

By setting up a specialized clinic of traditional medicine, this group will carry out the educational and therapeutic work of traditional medicine with prominent assistants and professors. The most important educational goal of the department is training specialists in the field of traditional medicine in Iran for evaluating evidence-based Iranian traditional medicine writings in the field of treatment of diseases and its most important research goal is to explain the principles and treatment strategies of traditional Iranian medicine and carry out clinical trials in order to publish the results to the scientific community. It should be noted that the .most concern of this group is maintaining health